MARQUETTE, Mich., May 26.—
The entrance of Theodore Roosevelt, plaintiff, into Marquette county court house, was announced to Editor George A.
Newett, defendant, and the rest who sat waiting in the trial room this afternoon, by loud handclapping from the crowd that filled the corridors.

Newett did not turn as Roosevelt passed behind him to his seat. The colonel picked out a place on a spectators bench.

Newett, refusing to look in his opponent's direction, sat at the trial table with his lawyers.
Roosevelt displayed lively in-called.

WILSON DECLARES WAR ON LOBBYISTS

Issues Statement Denouncing Interests Working Against the Tariff Measure

TRY TO CREATE WRONG OPINION

President Declares They Are Attempting to Simulate Public Pressure Against Schedules

(By Bond Geddes, staff correspondent of the United Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 26.—President Wilson today declared war upon lobbyists. He issued a "personal statement" to advise the country of "systematic misrepresentation of facts" as to tariff legislation by lobbies maintained here to fight against the Wilson-Underwood bill, which he said were the greatest and most powerful in years, if not in the entire history of the government.

The president's statement was as follows:

President's Statement

"I think that the public ought to know the extraordinary exertions being made by the lobby in Washington to gain recognition for certain alterations of the tariff bill. Washington has seldom seen so numerous, so industrious or so insidious a lobby. The newspapers are being filled with paid advertisements caru-lated to mislead not only the judgment of public men, but also the public opinion of the country itself. There is every evidence that money without limit is being spent to sus-tain this lobby and to create an appearance of a pressure of public opinion antagonistic to some of the chief items of the tariff bill. It is of serious interest to the country that the people at large should have no lobby and be voiceless in these matters, while great bodies of astute men seek to create an artificial opinion and to overcome the interests of the public for their private profit. It is thoroughly worth the while of the people of this country to take knowledge of this matter. Only public opinion can check and destroy it.

"The government in all its branches ought to be relieved from this intolerable burden and this constant interruption to the calm progress of debate. I know that in this I am speaking for the members of the two houses who would rejoice as much as I would be relieved from this unbearable situation."

Nation in Ignorance

The president was moved to talk "to the country" of his fight against the lobbies because he said he did not believe the nation was advised of the extremities to which lobbying against the tariff bill has gone. He gently chided newspapermen whom he received in his semi-weekly talk today, saying he did not believe the public press had adequately told the country of the organized forces at work in the capital.

cided by Judge Kersten Wednesday.
The court heard arguments from Charles Erbsstein, representing von Klein and Robert E. Cantwell, representing Miss Newcomb, today on Erbsstein's application for a writ of habeas corpus. No testimony was taken but Judge Kersten announced that he would rule in two days.

DENVER WINS CASE

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Fight of Denver, Col., for municipal ownership of its water works plant was won today in the supreme court.

A decision of the federal circuit court of appeals enjoining the city and public utilities commission from issuing $8,000,000 bonds for purchase of the existing water works plant of the Denver Union Water company, or construction of a new plant, was reversed by the supreme court.

U. S. HAS JURISDICTION

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Oklahoma authorities do not have exclusive authority to punish "boot leggers" who ship liquor to Indian reservations from points within the same state, the supreme court decided today. The government also has jurisdiction, the tribunal held.

TRAIN KILLS FIVE

by contractors on the Magnolia improvement work of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad was struck by a passenger train in Doe Gully, W. Va., today. Five of the workmen were killed and four others badly injured.

NO NEED OF O. K.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—President Wilson today withdrew his nomination of Joseph E. Davies of Wisconsin to be commissioner of corporations because it was discovered that the president can make the appointment without confirmation by the senate.

BIG BULL MOOSE SUES EDITOR WHO CHARGED HE "GOT DRUNK"

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

CONKLIN HELD IN MEXICAN SEAPORT

Son of La Crosse Woman Practically Prisoner with $400,000 in Gold Bullion in Possession

SENDS WIRELESS ASKING FOR HELP

Mother to Call on Esch to Get U. S. Government Interested in the Case

With $400,000 in gold bullion in his possession, Harry R. Conklin, son of Mrs. Mary T. Conklin, 228 South Eighth street, La Crosse, is practically a prisoner in the Mexican port of Topolobampo on the east coast of the Gulf of California, according to a wireless dispatch he got through Friday to the St. Louis headquarters of the mining firm for which he works. Mr. Conklin is the man whose reported capture by Mexican brigands last spring caused a diplomatic exchange between the governments of the United States and Mexico.

The text of the wireless dispatch Mr. Conklin sent was received by his mother in a letter from her daughter-in-law, in St. Louis. The wireless was received Saturday. It is thought that the message was sent from a U. S. gunboat in the Topolobampo harbor, which is mentioned in the dispatch. The port is closed, and Mr. Conklin is unable to get out of the country.

The text of the dispatch is as follows:

"Mines are closed on account of trouble, which is getting worse.
Works in charge of Mexicans. Myself and eight Americans in Topolobampo with $400,000 in bullion.
We found on arrival port is closed.
U. S. gunboat here. Our departure uncertain."

The message adds an appeal to the head of the mining company to help the party get away from the Mexican port.

The passage in the dispatch concerning the works being in charge of the Mexicans has mystified the heads of the corporation owning the $4-000,000 mines which Mr. Conklin superintends. That it may refer to capture of the works by brigands is feared, although it is considered possible that Mr. Conklin has left the mines in charge of the crew of Mexican workmen.

Mrs. Conklin said today that she intended to see Congressman John J.
Esch concerning her son's forced stay in Topolobampo. She will ask Mr. Esch to interest the government in having the port re-opened so that her son may leave. Mrs. Conklin denies, however, that she has any fears for her son's safety.

PROBE BRINGS DIVORCE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 26.— Thomas Vredenburg, millionaire lumberman here, sued for divorce because of facts brought out in the senate investigation regarding the morality of Lieutenant Governor Barratt O'Hara, does not expect to contest the suit. John Barber, his counsel, said that this would not be necessary.
"The matter probably will be settled amicably within thirty days," Barber said.

are made in La Crosse!"
"Well, who would ever believe that we had an industry of this sort in La Crosse?"

"I declare, there are things made in La Crosse that I did not know were manufactured in the United States!"

These are but a few of the exclamations that may be heard in any group before the windows today.
Although all of the displays are not yet placed, busy workmen are hurrying them into place and all will be in readiness before tomorrow evening, the first gala night.

Andre's band will give a two hours' concert in the downtown district tomorrow night to attract crowds to the exhibition.

The normal school band will give a concert Wednesday evening and Andre's band will play again Thursday and Friday evenings. It is expected that the fire department will make an exhibition run Friday evening and the La Crosse companies will drill the same evening.

Between three and five hundred delegates are expected to attend the Landingslag convention which holds three days' session Thursday, Friday and Saturday and it is the hope of the exhibition boosters that they will carry the word of La Crosse industry to the five states from whence they come. A special effort will be made to entertain the visitors while they are in the city and a committee has been named to see that they do not miss any of the manufacturers' displays.

CONVENTIONS TO CARRY NEWS

The convention of Group No. 7 of the Wisconsin Bankers' association opens Wednesday and it is expected that at least 100 of the leading financiers of western Wisconsin will see La Crosse made products or exhibition.

The board of trade six o'clock dinner will probably be held at the Masonic temple Thursday evening, although the plans have not as yet been completed.

A noticeable feature of the exhibition is the large lettered placard which appears in each of the display windows bearing the legend, "We Belong to the 50,000 Club." The sign is the motto of a new organization which has been formed to boost La Crosse.

Made in La Crosse Exhibition Source of Amazement to the Citi-

MANY DISPLAYS ARE NOW READY

Band Concerts, Fire Department and Militia Drills Are Being Planned

La Crosse is preparing to "do itself proud" in the "Home Made Week" exhibition which opens in the windows of the downtown stores and on the streets tonight. All day today the hustle and bustle of preparation gave ample proof that the manufacturers are preparing to make the most of the opportunity to teach the citizens of this city and the hundreds of visitors who will be here this week that this is indeed a real manufacturing city.

The merchants have joined in the general enthusiasm and are doing all in their power to co-operate and the stores will be dressed in their best decorations of flags and bunting to give the city the festive appearance in keeping with the big show.

Entertainments Planned

Band concerts, exhibition runs by the fire department and a parade and drill by the two La Crosse militia companies are being arranged to get the crowds out every evening of this week. A special effort is being made to make the evening of Decoration day the big night and owing to the fact that there will be delegates to two big conventions in town the latter part of this week, it is believed that La Crosse will get the best advertising it ever had in its history.

Proof that La Crosse factories make products unknown to the majority of the citizens of this city is seen in nearly every window in the exhibition zone. Already crowds are gathering in front of the displays and remarks of wonderment and delight are heard on all sides.

GRAND ARMY MEN MARCH TO SERVICES HONORING THEIR DEAD COMRADES

CARS FOR THE VETERANS

Grand Army veterans who plowed through mud and snow in the service of their country in '61, will be carried to the cemetery to decorate the graves of their comrades on the cushions of automobiles this year.
Percy E. Long, head of the committee of United Spanish War veterans in charge of Memorial day arrangements, this morning made an appeal to owners of cars in the city to loan them to the old soldiers.
May 29, to save them the fatigue of the long tramp to the cemetery. Mr. Long asks that cars be furnished to carry 100 Grand Army men. The cars will be wanted only for three hours.
Those who are willing to loan their cars to the veterans are requested to have them at the court house at 9 in the morning.
Mr. Long asks that automobile owners communicate with him by telephone, 1493-M, new.

WEAR A LITTLE FLAG

FRIDAY—CRONON

"We hope the citizens of La Crosse will wear flags on Memorial day," said Judge Edward Cronon this morning.

"The wearing of the little flags pleases the veterans," continued the judge. "We felt it last year, when the citizens were them. The flags made us feel that there was a personal interest in the event, general throughout the community. I am sure that no man or woman who realizes how highly this little token of sympathy is appreciated by the old soldier will neglect to wear a flag Friday."

"We want the children to wear flags, too. In fact, I think no message of cheer to the veteran equals that of flags carried by the little ones. We would like to be surrounded by an army of little children wearing the stars and stripes."

Forming into line at the court house yesterday morning and falling into step at the old familiar word of command spoken by Commander Albert Hardy of Wilson Colwell post, more than 100 veterans of the civil war, accompanied by Spanish American War soldiers, Sons of Veterans and women's auxiliaries marched to the First Methodist church, Eighth and King streets, to hear the memorial services in the memorial program.

Show Time's Traces

Dressed in G. A. R. uniforms of blue and bravely tramping along under the silken folds of the star spangled banner, the heroes of a passing generation awakened a more than passing throb of emotion in the hearts of those who watched the procession on its way to the church.
Many a marcher's manner of walk told of hardships of the greatest struggle in the history of nations and gave mute evidence of the near future will be in the hands of another generation.

The Women's Relief corps bringing up the rear formed a large part of the procession and the drooping shoulders and silver hair of "those whose duty it was to weep and wait" proved that younger hands are soon to take up the duty of keeping memory alive.

Reserved Section

When the procession reached the church the marchers were escorted to a reserved section. The crowd filled the church to overflowing, it being necessary to seat many in chairs in the aisles.

Old war anthems sung by the church choir and the eloquent address delivered by Rev. T. Stanley Oadams brought tears of appreciation to the eyes of the veterans and their wives. After the ceremonies the line again formed and marched to the cemetery to watch the work of decorating the graves of those who have gone before.

Services were also held in the Caledonia Street Methodist church on the north side, Rev. Marshal E. Fraser preaching the memorial sermon.
A company of Spanish War Veterans and G. A. R. men attended the north side services in a body.

Last For G. A. R.

The memorial day program which will take place Friday is the last that will be under the supervision of the G. A. R. posts of this city. The program will be peculiar in that it takes place entirely in the morning. The dedication of the soldiers' monument in Oak Grove cemetery will be the central feature of the services. The dedication speech will be made by Assemblyman C. L. Hood.

POSSESSION

"And what you really want with me I cannot imagine," she finished. "We have done nothing but quarrel since we met. What the Thompsons thought we would see in each other I don't know. We haven't an interest in common. You are an aristocrat, I belong to the dear people, despite the fact that my family was rich once. I like to earn my living. I like being secretary here, and some day I am going to have a real estate business of my own. I don't want to be rid of work. I hate you for pitying me."

Ellie Harding paused for a moment for breath, and the young man who leaned over her desk took advantage of the moment.

"I don't pity you," he said. "I envy you. Just because you are free and untrammelled by foolish convention, because you are genuine and like your work, you appeal to me. My father knew yours before he died. I can't help that. You needn't think that because I have money I want to marry you just to rescue you. I am the one who needs rescue. Can't you see?"

"I'm not on the saving crew," she retorted, rising and putting her hat over her dark hair. "You need to get busy. It's a hateful slang phrase, but it will do for you. I'm obliged to our mutual friends, the Thompsons, for thinking that I can be married off with impunity because mother has lost her money and I have had to go to work." She shrugged herself into a tan silk coat, refusing his aid, and made ready to march past him. "They left me to close the office," she said tartly. "and it's pretty hot here in June. I think you won't want to stay all night. Better come with me than be locked in." He looked at her angrily, but followed to the door, which she opened herself.

"Look here," he scowled. "You have scolded a lot, but tell me flatly just why I can't make you care a cent for me. Most girls are rather willing to go about with me. I have a nice disposition and a gift-ed education, I am tall and able-bodied and decent-looking and I have a perfectly good and heretofore unimpaired heart. What do you want anyway? I can make love to—to beat the band. Give me a chance to show you! You are not fair. Any fellow should have a chance."

She looked him over very coolly and hummed a little tune. "You're—lazy," she drawled. "You don't do anything."

"Great hat! lazy! I don't average five hours sleep a night and I'm always on the go. I am seeing and learning! I know this old town from A to Z—things you never dreamed of! I'm going to be mayor some day and reform it! I know society. I know the business men, I know the politicians, the clubs, the newspapers—I'm broadly fitting myself to do anything you like! I grant that I'm not working at making money. Why should I? Dad makes it faster than mother and I and Sis can spend it. We have more money than is good for us now. And, to cap it all, you like making money."

She turned on him when they reached the street. "I'm not going to let you go home with me, so you might as well get your precious car and chug home. I am going to walk." Unembarrassed, he swung along at her side. They walked in a rhythmical step, both tall, both free and graceful in movement.

Even in a big, sweating, rushing, hot, crowded city, summer cannot help being herself. The sun was going down behind the smoke and trees were green along the edge of things. Ellie Harding and Allan Footing turned down a side street, the girl now silent, the young man obstinately her companion. As they reached a broader, quieter place they passed through a green little park.

"Look at me, Ellie," he commanded suddenly, and drew her to a seat beneath a tree. She gave him a very sweet blue glance, as if he were a distant hilltop and nothing to her. "What's the use of all this? It's simply a fight for possession. For pos-

The procession, Henry Crosby post, Women's Relief corps and Spanish War veterans, will start at 9 o'clock for Oak Grove and St. Mary's cemeteries and after decorating the graves, memorial exercises will be conducted by the Relief corps. Automobiles will be furnished for the old soldiers and the ladies to and from the cemeteries. In the afternoon the procession will be formed on McLean avenue, under charge of Dr. R. E. Kule as marshal of the day, and will march to Gillette park, where an appropriate program will be given with an address by the Rev. W. D. Bancroft. Music will be furnished by the male quartet.

City Clerk and Mrs. W. Koopman have been called to mourn the death of their little two year old son John, who passed away Saturday morning at the home on Hollister avenue, atter a brief illness. The funeral will take place Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. G. Glaser officiating, interment at Oak Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Kerrigan, an old lady 85 years old, who fell down stairs into the cellar on Tuesday last and was found in a helpless condition, is getting better and hope is entertained for her recovery.

The following officers were elected by the Women's Civic Improvement club for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Elizabeth Seymour; first vice president, Mrs. W. W. Warren; second vice president, Mrs. W. D. Bancroft; recording secretary, Mrs. W. E. Bartels; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Wallace Toff; treasurer, Mrs. William Gleis.

Mrs. Ella Goodyear of Madison visited friends here during the past week. She returned home Thursday, accompanied by Mrs. W. R. McCaul and daughter Catherine.

WON'T END MILITANCY

MRS. PANKHURST DENIES THAT W. S. P. U. IS ABOUT TO ABANDON CAMPAIGN OF VIOLENCE

LONDON, May 26.—Informed by the United Press of the London newspaper reports that the Women's Social and Political Union is about to abandon militancy, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, militant leader, from Woking, today telegraphed the following reply:

"The report is absolutely untrue. Militancy will continue until the vote is won. PANKHURST."

Several persons arrested in yesterday's rioting at Victoria park, told were released. Twenty thousand persons, mostly women and children, marched to the Park, to take part in a demonstration for votes for voting women. Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, recently recovered from a course of forcible feeding in Holloway jail, attempted to address the throng from a cart. She was stoned and hit by clouds. Mounted policemen had in charge the mob before the women were removed to places of safety.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Iduna and Her Wonderful Apple Tree

Iduna Gave Her Apples Away.

THE apple tree had lost its blossoms, and in their places were the round, green things that some day might be fruit.

Jack and Evelyn were wondering whether there would be any apples that year.

"Let's hope so, for apples are quite as good for boys and girls as any fruit I know, though perhaps they won't do so much for them as the storied apple tree did for the old Norse gods."

"Who were the Norse gods, daddy?" Evelyn asked.

"They were the gods of the people who long ago lived way up in northern Europe in the countries that are now Norway and Sweden and Denmark. These people had strange stories. One of them was about the apple tree."

"The story goes that there was one goddess by the name of Iduna. She had a beautiful garden, and in it grew a magic apple tree."

"The fruit on this tree was of the most wonderful kind. Whoever ate of it became young and beautiful. To stay young, though, one had to keep eating the fruit. The gods and goddesses were all very nice indeed to Iduna so that she would be their friend and never refuse her wonderful apples to them."

"But the dwarfs who lived in the dark, cheerless mountains on the other side of the beautiful land of the gods were always jealous of them. Iduna's father had been a dwarf, and perhaps it annoyed them that she should live in the lovely, sunshiny land of the gods and care more for them than for her relations, the ugly, ill tempered little dwarfs."

"So the dwarfs got Loki, one of themselves, to steal Iduna and her apples and hide them in a deep forest where the gods could not find them."

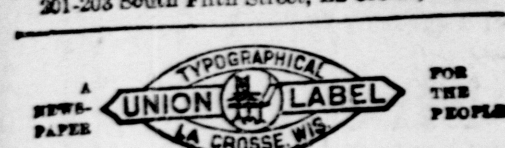

"After that everything went wrong with the gods and mankind, as well as with the dwarfs. The latter began to be sorry that they had meddled with the tree."

"When they no longer had the apples to eat the gods began to grow old and weak just as human folk did. They lost their interest in everything, because they could no longer do their work well there was much trouble on earth and in the sky where the gods lived."

"Things went from bad to worse until at last Loki was sorry for having done so much mischief and took Iduna and the apple tree back to the land of the gods. Then you may be sure the gods begged for apples. Their Iduna gladly gave them, but it was a long time before all the harm Loki's prank had caused could be forgotten."

QUICK ACTION WAS WILSON'S ONLY WAY

We agree emphatically with the stand of Senator La Follette that this country must come with all possible speed to a scientific method of revising the tariff, and that a permanent commission properly financed and equipped with essential powers should be established for that purpose. If it is President Wilson's idea that this need not be done, and that the old and inaccurate methods are good enough, we disagree with him.

But, just the same, we wonder what President Wilson's critics would be saying of him now had he proceeded to the organization of a tariff commission and awaited its deliberations—a wait of at least a year to come—before touching the schedules of that iniquitous tariff which the whole country outside a few protected interests has condemned, and to revise which Wilson was specifically and unmistakably elected.

Mr. Taft was in favor of a tariff commission, and probably still is. Mr.
Wilson would be a George III did he not "profit by that example."

Let Mr. Wilson proceed with a substantial revision of the tariff, downward. It may not be accurate, but should its inaccuracies militate to the advantage of the consumer and counterparts, in some cases, an injustice to the monopolistic manufacturer, that will be but the beginning of evening up an old score. Friends of a tariff commission can urge their measure eloquently under a tariff that is an injustice to a few wealthy producers as under a tariff that is an injustice to the general public. As individual men and women most of us will confess to a feeling of comfortable security regardless of the Underwood cut-and-slash orgie. Our ox was gored long ago, ad if the other fellow's ox gets itself gored we anticipate no experience more embarrassing than a kindly slump in the price we have to pay for beefsteak.

But wise men will not regard the tariff question as settled by the passage of the Wilson bill. It can not be permanent, it must be little more than tentative. Wherein it is correct the nation will adjust itself to the law; wherein it is wrong it must be remedied. There can be no permanent fixing of the tariff schedules, for with rapidly changing conditions they will have to be revised from time to time. And not until government recognizes the tariff as an economic problem and provides for its easy revision, not in an omnibus measure, but this schedule or that as conditions warrant, shall we be established upon a business basis and be free from log-rolling and the scary times of tariff upheavals.

We hope that in good time, the instant need having been disposed of as well as present equipment permits, President Wilson will come to this as he has to other fundamental ideas of the La Follette propaganda.

AMERICA FIXES CHINA'S STATUS

Recognition of the Chinese republic by the United States means that the new nation cannot be treated like a baby in long clothes. It means that it cannot be put in the international kindergarten and told to behave itself.

The act of this government is certain to have an important bearing on the loan now being negotiated.
The object of this loan is to put China in a high chair, tie a bib and tucker under its chin and forbid it from growing up until the European powers give their permission.

The United States has hit the theory that China is a child a hard blow. Recognized as it is by the greatest republic in the world its rights cannot be coolly dismissed and a guardian appointed for its property. It stands before the world today as a full-fledged nation, able to take care of its own property.

The Wilson administration had excellent reasons for withdrawing from what was known as the six-power and is now the five-power loan. This deal is intended to keep China in swaddling clothes forever. In return for the lending of more money than China needs or has asked for it exacts conditions that no country able to defend itself would tolerate.
Control of details of internal administration are demanded in addition to the ordinary securities which borrowing nations offer. If China accedes to the terms it practically puts itself in hock to its debtors. The money given will be forged into a pair of golden handcuffs.

The United States has been criticised for failing to recognize the new republic before. Perhaps it is just as well that there was some delay. Coming at a moment when the loan negotiations are approaching a crisis it will do more good than though tendered several months ago. Delivered today it can be interpreted in no other way than American notice to the world that China is a full grown member in the family of nations.

Smoked Out
One day an Irishman was seated in the waiting room of a station with an odoriferous pipe in his mouth. One of the attendants called his attention to the sign: "No smoking."

"Well," said Pat, "I'm not a-smokin."

"But you have a pipe in your mouth."

"Sure, an' I've shoes on me feet, but I'm not walkin'."

An Offended Wife
"A nice husband you are!" said madam in a passion. "You care less about me than about those pet animals of yours. Look what you did when your poodle, Azor, died."

Husband (quietly)—Well, I had him stuffed.

Wife (exasperated)—You would not have gone to that expense for me—not you, indeed!

The Bark and the Bite
"Come right on in, Sambo," the farmer called out. "He won't hurt you. You know a barking dog never bites."

"Sure, boss. Ah knows dat," replied the cautious colored man, "but Ah don't know how soon he's going to stop barkin'."—Success Magazine.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Once Again
Quite soon the world must hesitate And listen to the graduate,
And soak in good advice That's given by the wise young men And women o'er and o'er again.
Without the slightest price.

They've got a lot of it to give.
They'll tell the whole world how to live.

And how to win the strife.
They'll tell the folk as of yore In fancy and high-sounding lore, How to succeed in life.

It's safe to say they will solve all Of Wilson's problems, great and small.

And questions of the day.
The world, of course, will be polite,
And listen on commencement night,
And then go on its way.

Sure Cure
A man whose chimney was smoking was looking for some one to stop it from doing so. An old mason went to him one day and said:

"I will tell you a way of stopping your chimney from smoking if you give me a pint of stout."

The man, pleased with the offer, gave him the stout. When the mason was finished the other asked him what he would do with the chimney, to which the mason replied:

"Never put a fire in it."

A Wise Butler
Lord Rosemore, author of "Things I Can Tell," used sometimes to "make a night of it" with Jimmy Davis, and on one occasion slept at Davis' house after a somewhat late carousal. Ringing his bell in the morning, it was answered by William, the butler, and the following colloquy ensued.

"Good morning, William," I said briskly.
"Good morning, my lord."
"Quite early, isn't it?"
"Well—not so early, my lord."
"H'm, I thought it was. Anyhow, I'll get up and have some breakfast. I suppose nobody's down yet?"
"Oh, yes, my lord, your brother and Lord Mandeville have breakfasted some time ago."
"Bother them, I thought I'd be first. What did they have, William?"
"Smoked 'adcock, my lord."
"Did they?" I cried. "What a drunkard's breakfast! What do you think I had better have, William?"
"He eyed me coldly, but not unkindly, and then said with marked meaning:

"Smoked 'adcock, my lord."

Bad for Her Jaws Mrs. Cooke had a new servant and after the first cake she baked the mistress went into the kitchen.
"Dellia," said Mrs. Cooke, "your cake was very good, but there were not enough nuts in it. When you make another, please remember I like plenty of nuts in the cake."
"Well, mum," replied the girl,
"The reason I didn't put more in was because I couldn't crack any more today. Indeed, mum, an' my jaw hurts from them I did crack."
—Lippincott's.

Enough for the Money A Buffalo preacher tells a story of a woman who, after hearing him preach, informed a friend that she did not like the services at all. The sest was hard, she said, the singing was not good, and the preaching was poor. Her little girl, who overheard the remarks and who was present with her at church, said:

"But, mamma, what can you expect for a penny?"—Harper's Magazine.

Cleans Blood
Through Kidneys
A Most Important Function and One to be Carefully Guarded.

The purpose of the kidneys being to filter the blood, the process of treating supposed kidney weakness should be considered carefully. Instead of drugs and alleged kidney stimulants the better plan is to purify the blood with an antidotal effect such as you get from S. S. S.

It should be remembered that the kidneys are made up of a fine net work of blood vessels, and it is to stimulate the functional activity of kidney tissue through this capillary net work that S. S. S. shows one of its most remarkable effects.

The medicinal value of the components of S. S. S. is relatively just as vital to healthy kidney action as the nutrient obtained from grain, meat, fats, sugars, or any other part of our daily food is to the natural reconstructive requirements of the tissues. And there is one component of S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating the cellular tissues of the kidneys to a healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. Thus, in cases of rheumatism, cystitis, chronic sore throat, hoarseness of voice, bronchitis, asthma, and the myriad of other reflex indications of weak kidney action, first cure the blood with S. S. S. so it will enable the tissues to rebuild their cellular strength and regain their normal health.

S. S. S. is prepared by The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and if you have any deep-seated or obstinate blood trouble, write to their Medical Dept. for free advice.
It will be worth your while to do so.
You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores.

Baking Helps

Valuable Suggestions By Mrs. Nevada Briggs, Exponent of the Art of Baking, as taught by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill

Helpful Cake Making Hints

Always sift flour and K C Baking Powder at least three times. The more sifting, the lighter the cake.
Remember that! To cream butter and sugar quickly, warm the sugar slightly. Beat yolks of eggs with rotary beater. Whip whites of eggs with flat spoon whip.
Water makes lighter cakes; milk makes richer cakes.

To mix a cake, first cream butter and sugar thoroughly, then add yolks, if used. Then alternately add moisture and flour that has been moistened with baking powder and stir until smooth and glossy, adding egg whites after thoroughly mixing.

Always use K C Baking Powder.
Biscuit Helps

Always sift flour and K C Baking Powder at least three times.

Have shortening cold and firm.
Mix dough as soft as it can be handled. The softer dough goes into the oven, the lighter the biscuit when it comes out. It is easier for K C Baking Powder to do its work in soft than in stiff dough. Mix biscuits very little.
Do not knead. Stir up with spoon or knife and press in shape to roll on floured board.

With K C Baking Powder results are sure and certain. Ask your grocer for K C.

CAPTAIN OF TEAM HOPES TO WIN

Captain R. G. Ritson of the Enniskillen Dragons, who heads the British polo team, which has again crossed the Atlantic to take back the cup won by the Americans, believes the Britons have a chance to win this time. But those who have seen the practice of the team at Piping Rock have doubts.

The international match will be attended by thousands, by even more than go to championship baseball games. Polo once interested society alone. But a year ago more than 40,000 persons saw the matches, so that perhaps nine-tenths were persons who knew nothing of society.

DENIES BOUCHER HAD TWO WIVES

Sister of La Crosse Wife Takes Issue with Chief of Police of St. Paul

The statement of Chief of Police M. C. Flanagan, St. Paul, that Charles Boucher, who was found dead in a box car in St. Paul a few weeks ago, and supposed to have been a suicide, had two wives was contradicted this morning by Mrs. J. W. Bodette, sister of Mrs. Charles Boucher of this city.

At the time of the death of Boucher, Mrs. Bodette communicated with Mrs. Lizzie Coenen of St. Paul who claims to have been married to Boucher on October 4, 1908. Mrs. Coenen claims that at the time she was married Boucher went by the name of McClegg. She identified pictures of Boucher that the police of St. Paul showed her.

According to her statement today the first letter that Mrs. Bodette received from Mrs. Coenen states that Boucher's hair was of a dark shade, while in reality his hair was light. The date of the marriage was confused, there being three years difference in her statement in the letter, and that to the police. The letter stated that Boucher lived with her for three years. Mrs. Bodette says this is impossible. Her statement to the police in this regard does not comply with the letter received by Mrs. Bodette. In the letters received by Mrs. Bodette the description of Boucher was very vague, and in some instances incorrect.

BOURNE KEEPS BUSY

FORMER SENATOR TO FIGURE OUT DATA FOR WHEELBARROW PATROLMAN SYSTEM FOR GOOD ROADS

WASHINGTON, May 26.—If the rural mail routes of the United States total 1,100,000 miles in length, how many wheelbarrow patrolmen will it take to keep these roads in good condition? That is the problem which Jonathan Bourne, Jr., recently senator from Oregon, has undertaken to solve this summer, and without charging Uncle Sam for his services.

Bourne was made chairman of the joint good roads committee of congress. His salary as senator was cut off March 4.

He has learned from French engineers that wheelbarrow patrolmen are the secret of economy in the upkeep of rural highways. A shovel and a barrow are all the equipment necessary.

Senator Bourne has written to all of the 42,000 rural mail carriers in the United States for a detailed report as to the length and character of road they cover. From state engineers he is securing data on the cost of construction and of maintenance.

When congress meets next December the joint committee will be ready to report a complete plan of highway construction and repair.

NOTED DIVINE IS DEAD

REV. JOHN GREER WHO WAS PIONEER MISSIONARY TO INDIANS DIES IN ST. PAUL AT AGE OF 104

ST. PAUL, May 26.—Hundreds of Methodists all over the northwest were shocked today to learn of the death of Rev. John Greer, which occurred yesterday at the home of his daughter here. He was 104 years of age and for many years has been one of the best known ministers in this part of the country.

In his early days he did much missionary work among the Chippewa and Sioux Indians and talked their languages fluently. He frequently held services in the Indian camps. The Rev. Mr. Greer was born in County Fermanagh, Ireland, on St. Patrick's day in 1808. He came to America while still a youth and began his career as a minister at Inver Grove, Minn.

FIND GOLD HOARD UNDER OLD HOUSE

MILWAUKEE, May 26.—While digging under the old Wauwatosa laundry building, State street, Wauwatosa, Saturday, William Kutschenreuter, Jr., a carpenter, unearthed a jar containing ninety-five $20 gold pieces, a total of $1,900.

The coins had apparently been buried about the time of the civil war. It is supposed that the owner went to the war and never returned. Some of the coins were nearly 100 years old, while others were dated just before the civil war.

Kutschenreuter had purchased the building two weeks before.

At this time of the year it seems inadvisable to this reporter to start a campaign against transparent stockings. Such agitation should be started in midwinter.

LUTHERAN CHURCH

HAS A BIG DAY

Pastor of National Fame Confirms Class of 16 and Preaches Two Sermons

Sunday was an important day for English Lutheranism in La Crosse. The pulpit at the English Lutheran church was occupied both morning and evening by Rev. Wm. K. Frick, D. D., of Milwaukee, one of the most prominent English Lutherans in America. Not only did Dr. Frick preach to a morning audience that taxed the capacity of the church building, but he confirmed a class of sixteen young people, received six members into the church, administered communion and baptized some children. At the evening service, four newly elected members of the church council were installed with the laying on of hands and prayer.

Next in importance to the administration of the Lord's Supper, the most important ministerial act at the morning service was the confirmation of the sixteen young people, who by this act were received into membership of the church. In keeping with the custom followed from the earliest apostolic church, and in accordance with the customs of the Lutheran church for four centuries, the children admitted to membership must first be instructed in the principles of the Christian faith. At Holy Trinity English Lutheran church, the instruction of this year's class was begun by Rev. Christy, and almost completed by him, when the critical condition of his wife's health forced him to leave for a six months' absence in California. The instruction was carried on by supplies, and finished by the present supply pastor who has taken charge of the work until Rev. Christy's return.

The member of the class confirmed are: Rudolph E. Anderson, Josephine M. Basch, Ada M. Frugine, Leroy G. Fuller, Cassius Haller, Florence P. Katchel, Margaret S. Keeler, Myrtle M. Miller, Bessie A. M. Nelson, Henry H. Ott, Elora P. Smith, Margaret R. Stavrum, Thora Stuve, Gladys T. A. Tuttle and Harry Viner. Dr. Frick preached from the text "They have wholly followed the Lord," Num. 32-12, his theme and motto for the class being "Wholly to Follow the Lord."

After the confirmation ceremony, which is performed by the laying on of hands and prayer, six new adult members were received into the church on profession of faith. The administration of the Lord's Supper followed, and was one of the largest in the history of the congregation. At the close of the service, there was a baptism of children. The choir sang "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord," by Schneck. At the evening service four newly elected church councilmen were installed.

The Girls' Circle of Holy Trinity Lutheran church is planning a picnic and launch ride up the river on Memorial day.

On Thursday evening, June 5, F. R. Webber, the supply pastor, will deliver a stereopticon lecture entitled "An evening in Hielefeld," describing one of the most unique institutions on the face of the earth.

The "La Crosse Lutheran," a monthly publication, has again made its appearance with the supply pastor of Holy Trinity church as editor.

POPE ALLOWED TO DRIVE IN GARDEN

Pontiff Enjoys Keenly the First Open Air Exercise Since His Recent Illness

ROME, May 26.—Pope Pius X apparently none the worse for his Sunday activities today was allowed to drive for half an hour through the winding paths of the vatican gardens. It was the first time that His Holiness had been allowed out of doors since his sickness and he keenly enjoyed every moment.

Coachmen, gardeners, grooms and other vatican servants cheered the pontiff as he appeared and crowded as close about his carriage as they dared. He called each of them by name and inquired after their families.

Pope Pius appeared in excellent health and it is said that he has entirely recovered. Yesterday he received 200 persons in audience in consistorial hall, including some twenty Americans and later he received a delegation of Viennese pilgrims also appearing on a balcony over the court of San Damaso to pilgrims gathered there.

The special Constantine year mass which Pope Pius X was to have celebrated on May 11 and which was postponed indefinitely because of his illness, will be held in St. Peter's cathedral on December 8, according to an official announcement made today in the vatican. It was known that the pontiff had set his heart on celebrating the Pentecostal mass in person, and when it was postponed indefinitely, just prior to the appointed date, May 11, it was then doubtful if the pope would recover.

NECK BROKEN BY PELKEY'S WALLOP

Physicians' Examination Shows that McCarty Died from Spinal Hemorrhage

CALGARY, Alta., May 26.—The formal inquest into the death of Luther McCarty, knocked out and killed by Arthur Pelkey in Saturday afternoon's battle, was to begin here today. Managers of the two fighters, seconds and all the newspapermen at the ringside were to give testimony.

Though Coroner Costello will permit no official statement to be made until after the inquest, it was known today that Dr. H. H. Mosher, who conducted the autopsy, will testify that McCarty's death was caused from a broken or dislocated neck that caused a hemorrhage of the spine. Mosher arrived at this conclusion after a second examination. The blow that killed the young heavyweight was the jab to the jaw immediately after the opening of the contest, it is believed, and not the blow over the head.

Tommy Burns took charge of McCarty's body today and ordered it prepared for shipment tonight. He is awaiting word from McCarty's parents.

Tommy Burns' prize fight arena where McCarty received the fatal blow Saturday afternoon, is a heap of ruins this morning following a fire that started last night at 11:00 o'clock. It is thought to be the work of enraged citizens who are decrying the alleged brutality of the game that sent McCarty to his grave.

Warrants were issued today upon orders from the attorney general at Edmonton, for the arrest of Tommy Burns, who promoted Saturday's fight in which Luther McCarty was killed; William McCarty, McCarty's manager; Referee Ed Smith of Chicago, and several trainers and attendants of the two fighters.

The northwest mounted police were instructed to make the arrests at once. The charges, it is understood, will be complicity in manslaughter.

When Arthur Pelkey, who struck the blow that killed McCarty, was arraigned today it was understood that the preliminary hearing would be postponed to await the result of the inquest late today.

ALFALFA TRAIN TO HAVE A GOOD DAY

Weather Man Promises Clear Skies for Auto Tour of the County; Balmer Is Pleased

Good weather has been promised by the weather man for tomorrow, and Prof. F. E. Balmer, principal of the Onalaska agricultural school, today was jubilant over the prospect of a record-breaking "alfalfa train" to tour the county looking at alfalfa fields and methods tomorrow. He repeated this morning the announcement that any one who wants to come is invited to help make up the train of autos which will visit the farmers.

The value of alfalfa as a crop cannot be overestimated, in the opinion of Prof. Balmer. He declares there are any number of reasons why it is an important crop. "I have looked up the average acreage of farms in La Crosse county," said Mr. Balmer today, "and find that the average farm is 153 acres. The average of improved land is only 83 acres. The farms average 60 acres woodland, and the average per farm of unimproved land is 20 acres, or about 35,000 acres of idle land in the county.

"When the farmers grow alfalfa they will use this unimproved land. They won't be able to afford to leave it idle.

"Of course, some of this rough land is useless, but much of it will grow alfalfa when it is no good for any other purpose. The broken topography of the county is responsible for many acres of hillside land, much of which is rapidly wearing away due to erosion, under the present system of cropping. Alfalfa would put a stop to this, as it is left on the ground from year to year, and its extensive root system binds the soil and prevents washing away.

"An important fact about alfalfa is that it does not require any particular soil. Those with the auto train tomorrow will see crops in clay, loam and sand. It does require special soil conditions, but these can be supplied by the farmer."

ROCHESTER, Minn., May 26.—"J. C. R.," the mysterious man at the state hospital here, who has enlisted the aid of the nation in establishing his identity, is today believed to be Jacob R. Rotrom, late lieutenant in the United States navy and one of the heroes of the Spanish-American war.

Edward Vogt of Newark, N. J., who says in a letter to the hospital authorities that he is a sailor and at one time served with Rotrom on the old battleship New York, declares his attention was called to the case of lost identity in the Minnesota hospital by the initials J. C. R. He also enclosed a picture of the mysterious man and declared it was an exact likeness of Rotrom.

When showed the name of the letter writer "J. C. R." made known by his queer signs that he had once known Vogt. Then he was shown the name Jacob R. Rotrom. For a while the mysterious man looked puzzled, then his face lit up with a look of the most unalloyed joy he has shown. He used every means in his power to show that he was positive that was his name.

SEND PANKHURST BACK TO PRISON

Militant Leader Re-arrested After Being Allowed to Recuprate in Freedom

LONDON, May 26.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the militant suffragettes, today was rearrested in Woking and ordered back to Holloway jail, from which she was released several weeks ago on "ticket of leave" because hunger striking had made her ill.

Great indignation was expressed when announcement of Mrs. Pankhurst's arrest was made in the weekly meeting of the Women's Social and Political Union in London pavilion.

Mrs. Pankhurst has been recuperating in the home of Dr. Ethel Smythe in Woking and was taken in custody as she came from the house.

As she was leaving Bow street police court for Holloway jail this afternoon, Mrs. Pankhurst, her voice ringing with defiance, said: "I shall resume my hunger strike immediately and shall keep it up until they release me again. If they arrest me again, I shall continue the process indefinitely until either I die or the government recognize women as citizens."

The magistrate allowed a nurse to accompany Mrs. Pankhurst to jail and Miss Sylvia Pankhurst with several boxes of suffragette supplies acted as an escort.

Atteaux, wealthy mill supply agent, today when it got into the record an explanation of the checks and vouchers introduced against the accused Friday. On cross examination William H. Dwelly, treasurer of the Woolen company, said that the money—$2,605—was for services and expenses of Atteaux in going to all of the cities where the company has mills and not for work done in Lawrence.

CALL PACKERS IN VICE INVESTIGATION

Multimillionaire Meat Magnates to Appear Before White Slave
Probe

WILL BE ASKED DIRECT QUESTION

Belief in Connection Between Vice and Low Wages to Be Sought

CHICAGO, May 26.—Multi-millionaire packers who control the nation's meat supply, were to be put on the stand this afternoon before the Illinois senate vice probe to testify as to wage conditions in the packing house district where thousands of girls and women workers are employed.

To each of the wealth packers will be put the question: "Do you believe there is any direct connection between low wages and prostitution?"

Other Questions as Well

Questions relating to the sanitary conditions in the packing houses, the alleged activity of white slavers among ignorant foreign girls, and the prevalence of disease among women and girl workers—will be put to the packers.

Among those who accepted service of subpoenas today and were to appear to testify were: Louis F. Swift, head of Swift & Company; Edward A. Cudahy, Jr., and Arthur Meeker. J. Ogden Armour, for whom a subpoena was issued, is abroad.

A sergeant-at-arms was searching for Ira Morris and several other well known figures in the packing house industry.

Professor Graham Taylor, member of the commission that made an investigation into vice conditions in Chicago several months ago, today appeared before the committee to combat the theory that low wages is a primary factor in the wrecking of girls' lives.

Blames Other Causes

Professor Taylor admitted that he had no theory of his own to disclose but he said that an investigation that preceded his publication of a book on vice conditions convinced him that other causes had more direct connection with prostitution than low wages. He cited the report of the investigation conducted under the Russell Sage foundation to support his argument.

BOY SENTENCED TO STATE SCHOOL

Judge Wonders How He Got so Dirty in His Twelve School
Years

"How did you say this boy is?" Judge John Brindley asked of Chief of Police John Webber in county court today, turning a wondering gaze on Roy Stine, the son of a north side woman, accused of robbing the Hyde confectionery store, 1029 Caledonia street, Saturday.

"Twelve years, your honor," answered the chief.

"It doesn't seem possible," said the judge. "No, sir, it doesn't seem possible that anyone can get so dirty in 12 short years."

The boy was accused and admitted his guilt of having helped himself to between three and four dollars in change in the Hyde store when the proprietor's back was turned.

When taken in charge by the police he attempted to fasten the blame on his nine year old brother Henry, but the brother was able to establish an alibi. Because of the fact that the boy is incorrigible, having been arrested before on similar charges, Judge Brindley sentenced him to the state industrial school at Waukesha. His mother declared in court that she was powerless to govern him and that he was often away from home several days at a time. His appearance in court was ample cause for the judge's wonderment.

Fred Hagen, accused of habitual drunkenness, was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail but the sentence was suspended on his promise to take the pledge.

Dennis Donovan, a paper hanger from Waukon, Iowa, was found by the police yesterday wandering about the downtown streets in a dazed condition. A few hours after being taken to the police station he developed delirium tremens. Being a man more than six feet tall and broad in proportion the police are congratulating themselves on capturing him before he ran amuck down town.

COMMITTEE WATCHES FILL

The special water committee of the common council today made a trip of inspection to the La Crosse river where the Burlington Railroad company is dumping several carloads of rock. The rock is being placed at a point washed out in the recent flood. The last time a fill was made by the company the water main to the north side was broken shutting off the water supply to that portion of the city for several days.

CAPTAIN FOWLER HIGH SHOT

Captain F. H. Fowler was high man at the shoot held on the Company M rifle range yesterday, making 140 out of a possible 150 points. Sergeant Sloan was next with 130, and Private Nathan was third with 124. Other high scores were Gregor, 123; Heltz, 121; Lieut. Hale, 121; Sheldon, 117; Smith, 116.

"HOME OF THE PIPE ORGAN"

T. R. FIGHTS TO DISPROVE THAT HE IS DRUNKARD

Continued of fifty occupied this afternoon's session of the trial. George A. Newett, editor and owner of Iron Ore, the Ishpeming paper which published the charge that Roosevelt gets drunk, and from whom the colonel wants $10,000 damages, came at noon today to direct his defense. His lawyers were considering objections to Roosevelt's petition for damages and other objections to the placing of the colonel's big witnesses on the stand until the defense has concluded its case.

Friends With T. R.

The men who would be affected by this second move and marooned in the upper Peninsula of Michigan for a possible two weeks, are Gifford Pinchot, Emil Loebl, and Philip Roosevelt, William Leeb, Jr., Surgeon-General Rixey of the United States navy; Dr. Alexander Lambert of New York, the ocolone's physician; Truman Newberry of Detroit, former secretary of the navy; acob Riss, Lawrence Abbott, Robert Bacon and six or seven newspapermen whom the colonel has summoned to testify.

A possible interruption to the trial is feared in the ill-health of Editor Newett. He insists, however, he will be on hand until the trial is over. Then he expects to undergo a minor operation for stomach disorder.

One of the curiosities of the case is the size of Newett's paper. It is a weekly, with a circulation of possibly 1,500 to 2,000. The extent of damages possible to be inflicted by a journal of this size will be featured as a secondary line of defense by the editor's attorneys.

Newett himself is maintaining a rather grim silence. The colonel elated over the huge library and wonderful collection of animal pictures he found in the home of George Shiras, his host, refused to talk about anything else.

Look at Deer

The entire visiting delegation, with the exception of the colonel this morning was taken out on an automobile tour to see the deer within a mile of Marquette. The colonel took a walk with Mr. Shiras, and then plunged into consideration of the case.

His lawyers occupied themselves with an inspection of the jury venire, an important consideration here where all the politics rage between republicans and bull moose, and where democrats, regarded as impartial outsiders in this case, are rather rare.

The substance of the affidavits on which the bulk of Newett's case will rest became known today, though the documents themselves are under seal. The greater part of this evidence was collected in Ohio, along the route of Roosevelt's campaign trip last fall.

Assisted to Platform

The affidavits charge that in Athens, Bellefontaine, Jackson, Urbana and Martin's Ferry, Roosevelt was assisted to the platform by an attendant at each elbow and a third behind, that he exhibited symptoms of excitement and conducted himself generally in such a manner as to lead the witnesses to believe he was under the influence of liquor. There is little divergence between the sworn statements, of which, for example, ten were taken in Athens alone.

Affidavits taken by Roosevelt's attorneys, following in the trail of Newett's lawyer, and which the plaintiff will seek to introduce, say that former President Taft, touring Ohio about the same time, also was assisted to the platform by attendants. They will seek to show it is customary to support dignitaries to the rostrum.

Personal testimony will be introduced, according to the attorneys, that Roosevelt on the Ohio campaign tour tasted alcoholic drink only once, a portion of a glass of champagne at the home of Dan R. Hanna at Ravenna.

Another affidavit among the seventy or more now in the court files, charges that Roosevelt apparently was drunk at St. Louis. Former Governor Hadley of Missouri has been called to deny this statement and testify that on the day in question Roosevelt made a trip in an airship, exhibiting great coolness and steadiness while in the air.

The colonel also has affidavits from Dr. John B. Murphy, noted Chicago surgeon, and Dr. Arthur D. Bevin, both of whom treated him after he was shot in Milwaukee and who declare a thorough examination disclosed no alcoholic taint in him.

Newett's lawyers have kept their personal witnesses a secret. Eighty-six veniremen came trooping into town early today. Some of them traveled more than thirty-five miles. Marquette county is larger than the state of Rhode Island, and some of the men made an all night drive.

Small loss of time is expected in the picking of the jury, although Judge Richard C. Flannigan has indicated he will allow wide latitude in

"BACH" HE LAUGHS LAST AND BEST

Political Manager Defends Mahoney Suit with City's Own Witness and Turns the Tables

"Bach" is vindicated.

Which is to say that N. C. Bachlor never did owe the bill for trimming trees, nohow.

"I don't expect the city council will refund my attorney fees, but at least I think they should apologize," said Mr. Bachlor today after Judge Baldwin had found that the city had sued him for a bill he never owed and of which the real debtor had made settlement nearly six months ago.

In the last meeting of the city council, Alderman Paul W. Mahoney offered a resolution that the city attorney be instructed to sue Mr. Bachlor for a bill alleged to be due the park commission for trimming trees upon the property at 11th and Ferry streets. It was so ordered, and Mr. Bachlor committed himself no further than to say that Mr. Mahoney was seeking an experience with which to save his granulated recollections of the late campaign. Accosted by the city attorney upon the subject, he told that gentleman to jump in the lake, or words to that effect.

Thereupon the city sued, and after evidence had been introduced to show that Mr. Bachlor did not own the lot in question, it being the property of his wife, the park superintendent testified as follows:

That the work was ordered by Mr. Bachlor.

That he had never billed Mr. Bachlor for it.

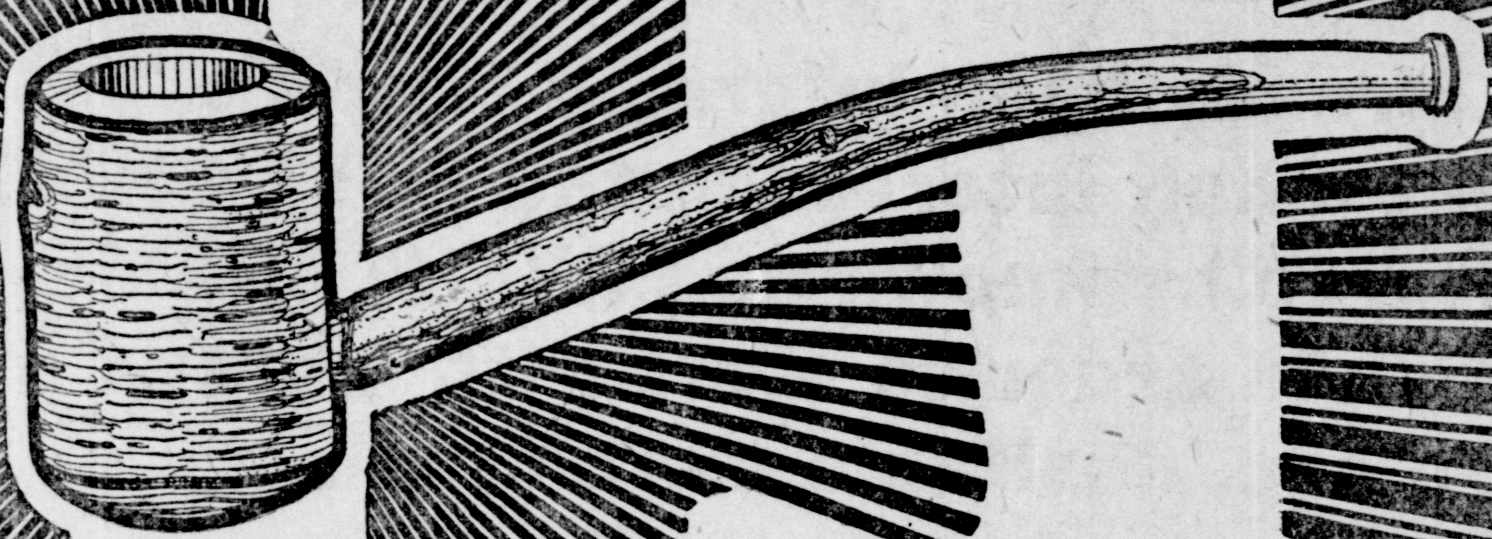

That he had not been consulted about the suit.

That the bill had been contracted in April, 1912 and was paid Jan. 1, 1913, nearly six months ago and months prior to Mr. Mahoney's resolution.

"The man who's playing for ever usually overplays his hand," said Mr. Bachlor, with the sweetest of smiles, as court adjourned.

MADISON Wis., May 26.—Ashland high school took first honors in the state interscholastic track and field meet at Camp Randall Saturday afternoon with a total of 24 points. Milwaukee West Division, last year's champions, was second with 22½ points.

The interscholastic record in the 120 yard hurdles was broken by Simpson of Oshkosh, who made the course in :16 2-5, clipping one-fifth of a second from the previous high mark.

The meet was run off with unusual facility and with ideal weather and track conditions. The tournament was successful in all particulars.

The Madison high school, winners of the 1911 meet, took third place on Saturday with 14½ points. The taking of first honors by Ashland deprived Milwaukee West Division of an excellent chance to retain the interscholastic cup permanently.

Simpson of Oshkosh proved an individual star of magnitude, but he was crowded close by Schwenger of Milwaukee West Division and Gardner and Schrank of Ashland.

Smart Toilettes for Summer Functions

EDITED BY

MAY MANTON

THE out-door fete always means a fascinating occasion, and this summer the toilettes suited thereto are really ravishing. It is a season of bright colors and yellow and green are pronounced favorites.

Brocade and broche materials, all moiré effects and stripes are fashionable as well as plain fabrics, and there is very unusual beauty to be found in the bordered stuffs. What the French call the "composed" costumes, or those that combine two materials, are greatly in vogue, and the fancy in plain fabrics are utilized to bring about the loveliest possible effects.

The illustration shows typical gowns and the smartest possible coats. A rather important feature of the season is found in the fancy costume made with the short coat that is really a part thereof, for, while it is of different material, it is trimmed with the fabric of the skirt and is a part of the costume, not in any sense a separate wrap.

In the picture is shown one such that combines a skirt draped at the sides with one of the smartest possible little coat. The coat has bolero fronts and a big collar finishing the neck. A feature of the skirt is found in the inverted plait at each side below the straps, and these straps are of handsome banding.

Every kind of graceful draped wrap or loose coat is worn for afternoon and evening occasions. For the most part the wraps are made of satin, of silk, of crepe, sometimes of the thinner, lighter chiffons and laces.

All sorts of sashes and girdles are worn, and what is known as the Balkan or long waisted effect, finished with a wide belt, is exceedingly fashionable both for coats and for indoor blouses.

THERE is no smarter costume for afternoon visits and occasions of the kind than the loose, softly draped coat of satin that is worn over an entire gown. The illustration that shows one such is an excellent example, for the coat is one of the most graceful and prettiest possible. The skirt is draped slightly at both front and back. The gown of soft moiré and the coat of satin with lace banding makes an exceedingly handsome as well as fashionable effect but, for the coat, can be used any material that will drape prettily. Crêpe de chine with lining of satin is liked, beautiful brocade fabrics are much worn and the simpler cotton brocades make an exceedingly good effect for summer wear. Brocade cotton éponge would, for example, be very handsome in one of the fashionable colors with a band of black satin ribbon, or broché crêpe with a band of velvet ribbon and the combination of charmeuse satin and lace is perfect. In addition to all its other merits, the coat is very simple in cut and requires only the skill of the ordinary needle-woman for its making.

Little girls are wearing unusually pretty frocks this summer. Styles suit them perfectly. The two that are shown here make good examples, for one is made of plain white cotton chiffon with trimming of lace insertion and the other is made of bordered voile. The latter means almost no labor for the making since bordered material forms its own finish and there is very little sewing to be done. The voile is very pretty as well as very fashionable and there are a great many other bordered fabrics that are desirable. Eyelet embroidered flouncing makes a charming frock and the bordered lawns and batistes are unusually pretty. As a matter of course, plain material can be used with trimming to suit the fancy but the feature of the frock is found in the straight edges of the skirt and bretelles. For dancing parties and occasions of the kind, eyelet embroidered voile is charming and is much used and often frocks of the kind are made with two slips, one white and one colored, and the effect of two costumes is obtained. The second frock is trimmed to give the bolero suggestion that is one of the fashionable features of the summer and the skirt is trimmed on similar lines. Such a dress is charming made from crêpe de chine, either white or colored, as well as from washable fabrics, and crêpe de chine, voile and all dainty materials are being much worn by little girls. Since the trimming is arranged between the groups of tucks and over curved lines, it means very little trouble. Pink or blue crêpe de chine with white lace would make a charming little frock. White batiste with white lace and a colored sash would be fashionable, for it is advisable to put a touch of color somewhere on every white costume.

Bordered materials are being much used for the older contingent, too, and the young girl's frock is a most attractive one. The skirt is straight and the edges of the waist are straight so that any one of the many bordered materials can be used. Voile is one of the most fashionable and is very beautiful whether embroidered in eyelet style or in raised work and there are very beautiful fabrics that show borders in color that are both fashionable and pretty. The Bulgarian effects that are so much liked appear in these and often it is possible to make an exceedingly beautiful gown with a few hours' work. Lace is a feature of the season and a dress made just in this way of shadow lace flouncing over a slip of silk or crêpe would be very dainty and charming. There are bordered nets that are very charming, and white net with a border of yellow roses would make a most attractive gown, adapted to dinner and evening wear, so that, while dresses of the kind are really the simplest of the simple, they can be made really elaborate in effect by the use of fine material. One of the lovely flowered nets mentioned worn with a sash of wide ribbon makes as pretty a costume as a young girl could ask and the design is, of course, also suited to small women who find youthful styles becoming.

Flounced skirts are extremely fashionable. They are made both from material and from lace and embroidery and, in the picture, there is one shown that combines lace with material. It is very charming, the two gathered flounces being arranged over a plain skirt while the bodice is one of the dainty tucked ones with square neck and Medici collar. Crêpe de chine seems especially well adapted to such treatment and is one of the most fashionable materials of the season but voile would be pretty made in such way or marquisette or cotton chiffon or any dainty, summer fabric; or, to vary the idea, lace could be used for both flounces and all-over lace for the bodice, or net would be charming trimmed with lace and made with either two or three flounces, for net is one of the smartest of all materials and is used in countless ways.

Two materials combined to make a single gown are in the height of style and striped fabrics with plain are especially well liked. The one that is illustrated is made of striped and plain silk. The skirt is just a simple two-piece one laid in wide tucks, the material being joined under the lower tuck but one could copy such an idea in almost any two pretty fabrics, flowered voile and white, for example, or figured éponge over plain or one of the pretty broché cottons over silk or broché crêpe over plain crêpe. For practical every day wear, colored voile could be used with white, while the silk suggestions are good for all dressy occasions. The blouse is effectively trimmed in the front but is closed at the back. If long sleeves are preferred, they can be made that way with deep fitted cuffs. Besides serving admirably for the gown, the blouse is a good one to use for lingerie materials to be worn with a separate skirt or with a coat suit. Fashions this season are so pretty and include so many variations that it seems quite easy to provide a summer wardrobe that is individual and distinctive without any great amount of labor.

FASHION NOTES OF INTEREST.

IF there is any one element in present fashions more urgent and interesting than another, it surely is the general picturesqueness of effect. Unhappily there are a great many unfortunate extremes and, as has been stated in previous letters, many of the costumes that are seen upon the crowded streets are unfortunate from every point of view, but dress as well as art in other forms should be judged at its best, not at its worst, and the fashions of the day have possibilities that are really fascinating. Colors are simply wonderful and, while an excess of over-bright hues during the warm season is a mistake, even the most vivid hues can be used to advantage under restraint if they are handled with knowledge and skill.

THE little coats that are such a fancy are most bewitching and a great many of the afternoon toilettes are exquisitely beautiful. At a hotel luncheon the other day was seen an untrimmed skirt of black charmeuse satin, very slightly draped and with a tiny little, narrow train, and worn with it was a little coatee, or belted blouse, of the same material in one of the beautiful American beauty reds over a bodice of soft cream net. There were frills of the net against the face and falling over the hands that had a wonderfully softening effect and the hat was black touched with the red, the whole effect charming. In the same party was noted a costume of one of the new silks woven in ribs, the color the splendid shade of king's blue. The skirt, in this instance, escaped the ground and was made in the favorite style that means a seam at each side only. Around the edge was a wide fold of silk held in place by little black cabouchons. The blouse was of white foulard delicately embroidered in black and the jaunty little coat was of striped blue and black silk with a daring belt of real cerise. The hat, of moderate size, was of blue straw with a white feather. Such costumes as these show the styles at their best and are interesting from every point of view. It is unfortunate that there should be so many travesties abroad. It actually hurts one to see some of the toilettes that are expiated every day but we are always free to take the best models for our own and to reproduce only good color and good lines.

OLD Gotham is seeing strange sights these days. Beneath my window pass busy throngs. Surely if the girls walk there in skirts so tight that they cannot move could meet their reflections, they would pause to think. Straight lines and narrow skirts do not necessarily mean extremes. When it is possible to make so much that is beautiful, it is silly to see ugly things abroad. There is no talk of the slashed skirt, or the skirt with openings for the feet, and most of the statements give an exceedingly false idea. Like the other fashion of the moment, this one is a travesty. The stout woman who yesterday with skirt drawn close about her figure to reveal her lines and slashes at the sides to ill-shape and poorly shod feet, an opportunity for display does represent La Mode, only an aping thereof. As a matter of many of the overlapped skirts provide freedom are graceful and attractive and a great many of draped skirts afford opportunity free walking while only adding to attractiveness of the costume, meaning no exposure whatsoever, make no demur over the skirt line five inches from the ground. To cavil over the skirt that reveals the instep, so long as that dress is handled in a way to be pretty and graceful, to avoid the objectionable features that sometimes exist? An afternoon occasion of the week met a costume directly from the sea. The material was a ribbed silk combined with old net, both in color and in treatment, serves to exemplify many important features.

GONDOLAS ON SEINE

PARIS, May 26.—Mlle. Cecile Sorel, one of the most famous beauties of the French stage, is having built for her own use one of the most beautiful gondolas ever constructed. She will use it on the Seine in making calls, etc., just as similar gondolas are used in Venice. Mlle. Sorel, of the Comedie Francaise, formerly lived on the Champs Elysees. She has moved to the Quay d'Orsay, her house facing the river. Society leaders, it is said, are to follow suit, Mlle. Sorel being one of the fashion makers of Paris, her fads soon becoming the fads of the ultra-ultra.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks
NEW YORK, May 26.—The stock market opened moderately active and strong.

11 a. m.—The market was irregular during the first hour. Although room traders showed a desire to help along sales, there was a distinct disinclination to do business and it appeared that the conservative element was disposed to await the decisions of the supreme court before making any moves at all. Although Lehig Valley was strong, Rock Island stocks sold off easily.

Noon.—The market was dull.
2 p. m.—The market was irregular during the afternoon.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, May 26.—The wheat movement was erratic today. Rains over the dry sections in Kansas caused early selling that made price searier. News from the northwest, where cold weather is injuring the crop prospects, checked the decline and at noon May was up ¼c over the day's opening and July steady.

Cold wet weather over much of the corn pit an upward movement today. Both months started strong and May advanced to 59½ and July to 58½ for noon, gains of from ½ to 1½c for the morning.

Shorts brought May oats today and prices advanced ½c.

July was weak on general selling by commission houses and lost ½c during the morning.

CALL VALUES EXCESSIVE.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Valuations aggregating $700,000 upon land along St. Mary's Falls, Mich., condemned by the government as a site for a third gigantic lock at the outlet of Lake Superior, were declared today by the supreme court to be excessive in its decision on suits against the Chandler-Dunbar, St. Mary's and other water power companies.

No man is so selfish as to keep all his popularity to himself.

HUNT MASKED MURDERER

TOLEDO, Ohio, May 26.—Posses continued their search of northwestern Ohio for the highwayman who shot and killed George Steel, 19, and seriously wounded Steel's sweetheart, Julia Probert, 16, on a lonely road near here Saturday. The couple were driving to the girl's home when a masked man confronted them and demanded money. Following Steel's refusal the man shot the boy twice, killing him instantly, and then fired twice at the girl. Miss Probert, though wounded, drove two miles to her home.
